50X1-HUM

The airfield was constructed in 1951-1952 and is for use only in time of war.

Location: approximately 4 kilometers from Aginci (N 45.09/E 16.47) in a valley through which the stream Knezica runs.

Airfield: the field is laid out on a fairly solid terrain, which was leveled, rolled, and planted with grass. Orientation: SW-NE.

Runway: more than 2,500 meters.

Storage: Storage areas have been excavated in the sides of the hills on the west side of the field (the village of Dvorista is located on top of the hill). Entrances are currently cemented closed. According to rumor, these caves are to be used as follows: One as command headquarters and the other two for POL and ammunition storage. There are presently stored in the caves special plates to form a runway.

Personnel: One air force squadron is permanently stationed in Aginci and is responsible for maintenance of the airfield.

Subordination: The air base at Banja Luka (Zaluzani air field N 44:50/E 17.14)

Present Status: During air maneuvers the field is used as a landing field. 50X1-HUM
